PREACHER'S CORNER

"Even If"

I believe faith that has been forged through the afflictions of suffering speaks with a soft and still voice but wields a message of conviction and rejection that echoes throughout the ages. At times, manifestations of suffering are woven within denying sinful pleasures. There are also times when suffering stems from the refusal to be coerced into doing something out of compulsion, and such a refusal results in punishment. Daniel 3:18 depicts defiant faith in the face of suffering consequences. Daniels' three friends defied a decree by the king to worship him and when brought before the king who questioned their conviction, they replied, our God will deliver us from the fiery furnace, " But even if He does not, let it be known to you, O king, that we will not go on serving your gods or worship the golden image that you have set up." The power of such faith, the faith of "Even If" still echoes today.
